This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE WILL OF THOMAS QUENELL, OF LYTHE HILL, CHIDDINGFOLD, YEOMAN, 1571.

COMMUNICATED BY

THE REV. T. S. COOPER, M.A., F.S.A.

THIS document, of which the following is a transcript, is in the possession of Mr. J. R. Stilwell, of Killinghurst, and is a good specimen of the last will and testament of a substantial Surrey yeoman of the sixteenth century. The original is written in a tolerably legible hand, the scribe being, as the document relates, Richard Haredonne, a cousin of the testator.

Amongst the very numerous items of which the will consists are some of considerable importance to local history; the acquisition by the Quenells of the manor of South Imbhams, for instance; also of several of those small holdings, survivals of ancient divisions of land, which marks the gradual development of the farm into its present state. Other items throw light on the plan of the house; on the farm stock, such minute details as descriptions of horses and cattle being given, even the name of the cow, "Lustye;" on household goods, &c. There are also many words and expressions which will interest many readers. And though nothing is said about an iron furnace, it is significant that the testator had lately purchased from Mr. Covert a close of ground adjoining land called Rovers, with the water-course. From its position this close is evidently what is now Imbhams pond, which formerly supplied the furnace which Viscount Montagu of Cowdray had lately started on leasehold land at the south corner of Imbhams farm. The mention of Richard Crampe, from whom the testator farmed the tithes of the "parsonage of Hasilmore," adds one more to the list of curates of that place.

The testator, Thomas Quenell, was the eldest of the five sons of Peter Quenell, of Lythe Hill, who died 1558–9. The family is found settled in Chiddingfold in 1480, when another Peter Queynold or Quenell was its representative. The name is such an uncommon one that it is fair conjecture that the family at Lythe Hill—not the residence of the late Mr. J. Stewart Hodgson, but the farm of that name, with its picturesque homestead on the right of the road leading from Haslemere to Anstead Brook—originally came from Hertfordshire, and was perhaps directly descended from John Quyneld, who is found, in 1373, holding land in the manor of Ware, where his ancestors had been settled for several generations.

The burial place of the family at Chiddingfold was "against the east end of the Chancell within the Churchyard" though nothing unfortunately remains to mark the exact spot. Here Thomas Quenell, who had married Alice Irelond, member of another good yeoman family in the neighbourhood, was buried near his father.

His brother, Robert, who succeeded him at Lythe Hill, did much to consolidate the property and also added a wing to the east end of the house. He became an ironmaster, working the furnace at Imbhams in succession to Lord Montagu. In 1612 he was buried at Chiddingfold. His wife was Elizabeth, daughter of George Hall of Compton. Their eldest son, Peter, and their grandson of the same name, were perhaps the most noteworthy members of this family. The former by marriage with Alice, daughter of Emery Cranley of Wisborow, Sussex, and granddaughter and heir of Thomas Hall of Field Place, Compton, became possessed of that estate. It was this Peter Quenell who raised the family from its yeoman state, receiving about 1624 a grant of arms, namely, az. a cross arg. between two roses in chief or, and as many fleur-de-lys in base of the second. His name occurs amongst the chief landowners in Surrey, who subscribed to the loan levied by the King in 1625, his own share being £10. Later on he with his son shared in the troubles of the Civil War. The Quenells appear to have been staunch Royalists, and as long as they were permitted to do so, "made Gunns and shott for supply of his Ma^ties^ stores" at Imbhams furnace. After a married life of just over fifty years the elder Peter died in 1649–50, and was buried at Haslemere, where in the Church there is a stone to his memory with a Latin inscription.

His son received his education at Magdalen Hall, Oxford, and afterwards held a commission in the Royalist army, though in the same month as the King set up his standard at Nottingham "Captaine Quenel with his band" was compelled by the Roundheads, who appear to have been a strong party in the neighbourhood, to lay down his arms. For his loyalty and that of his father, "Peter Quinnall, Esq^r^" was at the Restoration one of the thirty-two persons in Surrey selected as Knights of the Royal Oak, an Order, however, which for political reasons was never instituted. The value of his estate is given at the time as £600 a year, a very good income in those days. On his marriage with Elizabeth, daughter of the Rev. Edmund Grey, he went to live at Field Place where he died. He was buried "in the north part of Compton Church under the uppermost arch in the wall there" on May 7th, 1666, in the vault probably of the Halls of Field Place, whose heir he was.

Peter Quenell, elder son of the above, was the last of the family at Lythe Hill. When and to whom he sold the estate I have not been able to discover, nor do I know what became of him beyond this, that in 1695 he is found spoken of as Captain Quynnell.

For many generations representatives of collateral branches of the family continued to reside in the parish of Chiddingfold; some were small holders of land, others were tradesmen, but by far the greater number filled very lowly positions. The last male representative was George Quennell, a stone-breaker, who having carried on his vocation till upwards of eighty years of age, was compelled to retire a few months ago to the workhouse infirmary. It will thus be seen that the family was represented in Chiddingfold with varying fortunes for upwards of four centuries, a reason why this brief notice should appear by way of preface at the head of the Will of one of its members.
